Sounds of ancient Japan!
Slip back in time to historical music!
Let’s touch it! Play with Gagaku (Japanese traditional music and dance)

Gagaku is music which is used for wedding ceremonies, etc., conducted at shrines. You can play traditional musical instruments handed over from the Heian Period. The musical instrument called "koto" describes the light from heaven. "Ryukaku" describes dances where dragons travel between heaven and earth. It is a unique opportunity where you can experience Gagaku which recently attracts attention as therapeutic music. Slip back in time to historical music by listening to fine music, playing musical instruments on your own or wearing white clothes or costumes for players. Let’s be a "Gagaku girl" or "Gagaku boy!"
