Hankyu Hanshin Hotels' SDGs Main Action

Reusing linen to save water and reduce water pollution

With the cooperation of guests who stay multiple nights in using the same linen after the first night, we are saving water and reducing water pollution due to laundry activity.

Furthermore, a part of the money saved due to the reduced amount of laundry is contributed to local nature conservation efforts.

Hankyu Hanshin Hotels' SDGs Main Action

Switching to drinking straws made from plant-based materials

Since July 2019, we have been changing the plastic drinking straws in our restaurants and banquet halls with organically produced alternatives. We recognize a strong need to further reduce our use of plastic, with Japan coming in at number two, only second to the United States, in annual plastic waste generation at 32 kg per head.※

Therefore, it has been decided that only customers who are in need of one will be provided with a straw. The organically produced straws take very little energy to incinerate and no toxic substances are released in the process.
