Shrines

Near Haneda Airport

07 | Anamori Inari-jinja Shrine F-5

A variety of fox gods are worshipped at this shrine, which is said to bring good fortune with money, business prosperity and safe travels. The rear area behind the main shrine boasts beautiful vermillion Torii gates.

- ☎ 03-3741-0809
- ➡ 3 min. walk from Anamori Inari Station on the Keikyu Airport Line
- 📍 5-2-7 Haneda, Ota-ku

Inari foxes

Foxes, which eat the mice and rodents that lay waste to fields, are believed to be the servants of Inari, the harvest god.

A charm for safe travels

08 | Haneda-jinja Shrine E-5

Built approximately 800 years ago, this shrine was so central to belief during the Edo Period (1603-1868) that it was frequented by the shogun. In modern times it is often visited by airline workers who come to pray for safe flight operations.
