Lose yourself in the incredible

There is a famous saying in Japan dating from the Edo period that translates to "never say beautiful before seeing Nikko" it's not by chance that the first shogun of the Edo period is enshrined there. You will be enchanted by impressive mountain landscapes, pristine alpine lakes and cascading waterfalls. Incredible autumn colors blanket Nikko from early October until late November and the Cherry trees blossom from early April to early May. Take in the splendor of the world heritage temples and shrines, and after traveling back in time to the Edo period at Edo Wonderland why not take a relaxing soak in the historical Kinugawa hot springs that were once reserved only for monks and the elite.

Map of Edo

Your trip to the Edo period can be divided into five main areas.

The Forest Path
To get to the city you will need to take a small path through the woods. These are the roads that connect the country to the cities. If you're unlucky, you may be assaulted by bandits!

Out Post Town
Once you see the waterwheel, you've arrived at the station town. Take a break at the traveler's inn, and make sure to stop by the kimono rental before continuing on to the capital!

Commercial District
Edo's main street, here you will find many restaurants, stores and interactive experiences. Check out the gorgeous Oiran courtesan procession held daily.

Ninja Village
Experience the awesome world of the shinobi at the grand ninja theatre and the Ninja Karasu mansion. The performances and activities here will inspire the inner ninja in you!

Samurai District
Explore the samurai district's court-house, prison, and samurai lords residence which houses the Edo Life Culture Museum.
