Intangible Cultural Heritage: Mino Washi and the “Akari” Art Exhibition

Among the industries of Mino City, the one that stands head and shoulders above the rest is that of paper production. With a history of over 1,300 years here, paper-making is at the very heart of the city’s culture, a fact that is seen clearly in the many paper-centric festivals and events. Japanese paper, or washi, is made from the bark of certain types of trees and is noticeably different from paper we are used to using that is made from wood pulp. Generally tougher, more fibrous, and softer, washi is a paper of extremely high quality that, throughout Japanese history, has been used in the making of many traditional crafts. And Mino Washi, counted as one of Japan’s Three Great Washi, is among the best of them all. It is extremely thin when compared to its paper brethren, and yet despite this, it is immensely strong and difficult to tear. Washi was added to UNESCO’s Intangible Cultural Heritage list in November of 2014.

With such an outstanding paper-crafting industry, then, it is no surprise that traditional crafts making use of paper also flourished in the general region. Gifu Chochin lanterns, Gifu Wagasa Japanese umbrellas, and Gifu Uchiwa fans are all examples of famous products incorporating Mino paper into their construction, undoubtedly one reason why each of these is considered among the best in Japan. Though not as numerous as in the past, there remain many craftsmen producing paper in Mino City today, continuing to use the traditional techniques that made the product as famous as it is. Around the town, there are various shops selling Mino Washi goods, so you can pick up beautiful souvenirs that represent Mino’s long history!

When it comes to showing off the incredible allure of Mino paper, nothing does so better than the Mino Washi “Akari” Art Exhibition that takes place every October on the old streets of Mino. Here, around 500 works of art, called “Akari,” are accepted from artists all over the world and displayed here for all to admire. Each “Akari” makes use of the interplay between the Mino Washi and the light of which it is composed, giving birth to a warm, glowing sculpture that showcases the gentle translucency and texture of the paper. Held in the dark of night, this event is absolutely unforgettable, so come visit and experience first-hand the infinite possibilities of Mino Washi!

MINO [THE ESSENTIALS]

Udatsu-Lined Old Streets of Mino

This old quarter of Mino City is known far and wide for the handsome udatsu firewalls that rise above the roofs of the wealthy traders’ houses. As an old, Edo period (1603 ~ 1868) town, Mino is composed of largely wooden buildings, making it extremely vulnerable to fire. From early on, then, the townspeople feared the spread of fire from one house to the next, and so they installed udatsu between the ends of adjoining roofs to contain one in case it broke out. But these firewalls have more than just a practical purpose; they also embody the competition that existed between the wealthy merchants of the town. As with the yatai floats used in the Takayama Festival, Mino’s udatsu are highly decorative and embellished as a result of the merchants’ desire to outdo one another! A symbol of status and wealth, then, the udatsu is a unique architectural contrivance that speaks to the history of the town.
